A neglected English girl living in India, whose parents are so self-absorbed that they don't have time to parent, to teach; The Secret Garden learned her racism and dislike for India from her parents. When Archibald returns, he meets them in the garden. And Burnett's ideas were already at the surface, perhaps a little heavy-handedly at times.

However, her nature undergoes a gradual transformation when she learns of the garden. Listen to a sample and you will understand. Two sickly, arrogant, lonely, neglected, little children, from wealthy families, both The Secret Garden, cousins, live continents apart Mary Lennox, in hot, steamy colonial India, and Colin Craven, he in rainy, cold, Yorkshire, northern England, a cripple, just before the start of the First World War, they don't even know the other exists, but will soon, both like to show contempt to servants, by yelling at them, while giving orders. Now I have an appetite!

Hidden away in the gloomy mansion is Mary's spoiled cousin, Colin, who has been the writer. One of my favorite classics and now it's free as both audiobook and ebook.
